A season in the Square Mile

A WELCOME

The Square Mile at Christmas

The Derby London City sits in the heart of London's historic Square Mile — one of the city's oldest and most quietly extraordinary neighbourhoods. In December, it becomes something else entirely. The Tower of London glows against a winter sky.

St Dunstan in the East, the ancient churchyard just outside our door, takes on a particular stillness in the cold. The streets that once carried merchants, makers and civic leaders are now lit with the warmth of the season.

Come in from the cold and we'll take care of the rest. A cocktail at the bar, a meal at Rycrofte's, a bed that's genuinely comfortable. Our team know this part of the city inside out — ask them where to go and they'll point you somewhere you won't find in any guide.

The City rewards those who wander. The Monument. Leadenhall Market dressed for Christmas. A dozen things you didn't plan to discover. And when you're done, we're right here — warm, unhurried, and glad you're staying.

However you choose to spend the season — a festive break, a reunion, a Christmas treat — we hope The Derby London City feels less like a hotel and more like a very good base in a place you'll want to come back to. We look forward to welcoming you this Christmas.
